When you see team names that are indented over, that means that there are two sets of judging alternating between teams. One set will judge the teams aligned to the left of the column, while the second set of judges will judge the teams that are indented. All teams in the same division and same category will be judged by the same judges. Teams should be ready to move on and off the floor quickly with no down time between routines during Festival Style Judging. This method allows the contest to flow more smoothly and conclude earlier. If you have any questions about Festival Style Judging, feel free to contact us.
